THE WORLD'S MOST TRAVELLED MAN

By Semina Sarantopoulou

According to the Guinness Book of Records, Babis Bizas, a 61-year-old Greek man, is the first person who has set foot in each of the world's 195 countries. He has visited both the North and the South Pole.

"There is a Greek starting point and return," Babis says, "but I can only last in Athens a few days, just the time I need to organise the next escapade."

He has just arrived back from his adventure in Antarctica, where he experienced extreme living conditions with temperatures of minus 36 degrees Celsius, which included using thermal sleeping bags and walking on 3,000 metres of accumulated ice. "In terms of tourist attractions you've seen it all in four hours. The rest is about emotion, history and human achievement," says Bizas.

"I find conventional holidays terribly boring. I need action. I need to contact the local people and experience their daily routines."

Bizas got his first passport at the age of 22, when he travelled to Bulgaria, Romania and Istanbul. Then, it was Scandinavia. While studying political science at Panteion University in Athens, he took off on a six-month journey with only 250 dollars. He travelled by road to Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan and Bangladesh, and worked as a deckhand on a merchant marine vessel which took him to South Africa.

He has made many sacrifices. He has slept under a bridge and at train stations. He has spent a week eating biscuits. He has stowed away on trains.

What started out as a hobby soon turned into a profession. His travel experience and fluency in five languages gave him the opportunity to guide tourists in search of adventure. He has made many bold travel choices, but tourists have followed him without hesitation. Bizas has visited El Salvador during the country's civil war and Nicaragua during the rise to power of the Sandinistas, and has been among the first travellers to visit Vietnam after the war in 1977. He's been arrested in Libya, taken for an Israeli spy.

New York is his favourite destination, but he has met the happiest people on an African island.

"They are content with very little. This is why I follow the 1-2-3 mantra, travelling only with the bare essentials: one pair of shoes, two pairs of trousers and underwear, three shirts." Bizas says. "When I first started travelling, at the age of 22, I just wanted to go on 30 trips in my lifetime. When I exceeded 80 trips, I thought 200 were necessary. Now that I've been on over 1,000 trips, I can't imagine myself stopping this adventure. The more you travel, the more you discover."
